NOTICE NINE THINGS

Soil that smells like damp cellar or rain ☐	An acorn or seedpod with its cap still on ☐	A natural texture you would not have guessed before touching ☐
A feather, shell, or curious pebble small enough to pocket ☐	Bark cold on the north side of a trunk ☐	Animal tracks in mud heading toward brush ☐
A stone or tree that was here before your grandparents ☐	Something that was alive this summer and isn't now ☐	A spider web catching low afternoon light ☐

Phone in pocket. Shoulders down. Eyes open.
Back by 4:30 pm. Tell someone where you are going.
